THE FUTURE OF BRITISH BORNEO An old resident in Borneo sends the Pall Mall Gazette the following criticism of the proposal made by a correspondent "who knows Borneo intimately," that the Government of the North Borneo Company should be placed under the rule of Rajah Brooke of Sarawak. He says :--

My experiences of Borneo go back to the days

James Brooke's first settlement. I took an active part in its development, and have still an interest in the welfare of the country. I will, therefore, with your permission, make a few remarks upon the proposition in question correspondent's motives for his proposals are as follows—that some valuable lives have already been lost in the company's service; that the outlay exceeds the expenditure; that "sending European products among a savage population which is only accustomed to political and not commercial rules is attended by a considerable amount of commends Rajah Brooke to be ruler of the country, but whether as King or Governor is not quite clear. fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both

Attention is invited to the following particulars on the subject of Local Delivery:— LOCAL DELIVER". - No delivery is attempted on board Ship, at the Peak, Kowloon, Aberdoon. &c., nor at any private house (even though named in the address) when there is a place of business nearer, at which delivery can be effected

(Postal Guide, par. 159). The above Regulation is not new, but has been the invariable rule of the Post Office for many years. Considerable efforts have been made to secure its being generally understood. To prevent, however, if possible, any further disappointment in the matter, it will appear permanently on the Mail Lists issued twice every day from the Daily Press Office. When Correspondence has been mis-sent or TAKING CARGO AND PASSENGERS delayed (both of which are liable to happen occasionally) all that the addresses need do is to note on the cover, Sent to ----, or Received at 7 p.m., or as the case may be, and forward it, without any other writing whatever, to the Postmaster-General. This should be noted on the first time cause of complaint occurs; it is a mistake to let such matters pass for fear of ATLANTIC AND OTHER CONNECTING giving trouble, a course which generally gives more trouble in the end. The Postal Guide for 1885, revised to date despatched for San Francisco, via Yoko- will be found in the Daily Press Directory. hama, on SATURDAY, the 22nd August, at p. 393 large edition, p. 657 small edition. This is the only authorized complete Summary of Hongkong, August 14th, 1885.

LOOKED at from a strictly legal point of view, we are not sure that the argument contained in the letter addressed by the Hongvernment with reference to the emigration supported, but from a common sense point of view and as affecting state policy it is unthe Imperial legislature has conferred upon or to restrict if within such bounds as might of the empire. be thought proper, just as the Australian colonies have restricted it. Because Hongkong is entitled to say what number of emigrants shall be conveyed in a British ship from a port in China, it does not follow that Queensland is bound to receive that number, and Singapore has no greater disability imposed upon her in this respect than the Australian Colony, saving such as may spring from the greater power exercised by the Secretary of State in the latter colony. If it could be shown that Chinese immigration was undesirable at Singapore the Secretary of State might, if he thought fit, give his consent to a Restriction Act, notwithstanding the Chinese Passengers' Act and the powers exercised by the legislature of Hongkong under that Act. From a purely legal point of view, therefore, we think the argument of the Chamber of Commerce is untenable. way. But, as a matter of fact, Singapore does not desire to restrict Chinese immigration, but rather to promote it. Hence the absurdity of of Nagasaki on the 22nd ult., arrived at Shangthe conflict between the laws of the two colonies, seeing that the emigration laws of Hongkong provide ample safe guards for the health and comfort of the emigrants, and that these are the only objects Singapore can have in view in legislating on the subject. The affair furnishes one more instance of the utter confusion and obtuseness which prevails in that remarkable department of the Imperial Government. Whatever prosperity the colonies may enjoy is certainly not due to, but rather in spite of, Downing-street. The regulations made by the legislature of Hongkong in relation to the carriage of emigrants have all been submitted to and ap- sion to open a general store in Port Hamilton, be obtained upon this important point—I have Chinese transport arrived yesterday from Fooproved by the Colonial Office; yet regulations n conflict with them are drafted by the same office for the colony to which the prin- day or two ago, that his request could not be cipal part of that emigration is directed. PRONUNCIATION. An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the now words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Panti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size d of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of I space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To the illustrate the vast scope of the work following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medharst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli

The above Regulation is not new, but has been the invariable rule of the Post Office for many years. Considerable efforts have been made to secure its being generally understood. To prevent, however, if possible, any further disappointment in the matter, it will appear permanently on the Mail Lists issued twice every day from the Daily Press Office.

When Correspondence has been mis-sent or occasionally) all that the addressee need do is to note on the cover, Sent to _____, or Received at 7 p.m., or as the case may be, and forward it. without any other writing whatever, to the Postmaster-General. This should be acted on the first time cause of complaint occurs; it is a mistake to let such matters pass for fear of giving trouble, a course which generally gives more trouble in the end.
